DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's after-final amendment filed on May 20, 2004 has been entered. Claims 13, 19 and 22 have been amended. No claims have been added or cancelled. Claims 13-26 are still pending in this application, with claims 13, 19 and 22 being independent.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 13-26 are allowed.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Applicant teaches an illumination device having a base bracket formed with the general geometry of a computer expansion slot cover. The device further includes self-contained power supply means independent from the main power supply of the computer. A flexible neck extends from the power supply housing, such neck having a light source at the distant end. The illumination device is inserted and secured to a computer expansion slot to illuminate the inside of the case of such computer.

No prior art was found teaching individually, or suggesting in combination, all of the features of the applicants' invention, specifically an illumination device, having a base bracket shaped to be inserted and secured to a computer expansion slot, to illuminate the inside of the case of such computer.

Tseng (U.S. Pat. 5,615,945) discloses a computer illumination device having a base bracket for insertion into a computer expansion slot. A flexible neck extends from the base bracket and includes a light source located at one end. The flexible neck enables the light source to be redirected as needed to provide illumination for the computer. However, Tseng is silent as to the patented device having a base bracket with the general geometry of a computer expansion slot cover to enable such illumination device to be located inside the case of a computer. In addition, the device of Tseng lacks the self-contained, independent power supply of the claimed invention.

4. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
